Personal Data

Job Title:	Marcio Iorio Aranha is a tenured professor of constitutional and administrative law at the University of Brasilia School of Law. He is director of the Research Center on Communication Policy, Law, Economics and Technology (www.ccom.website). From 2007 on he has been a visiting fellow at the Annenberg Research Network on International Communication (ARNIC/University of Southern California). He is also director of the University of Brasilia Center on Law and Regulation (www.ndsr.org), and founder and coordinator of the Telecommunications Law Research Group (www.getel.org), where he is the chief editor of the Law, State and Telecommunications Review (RDET). Mr. Aranha teaches at the graduate and undergraduate programs of Law at University of Brasilia on the subjects of Constitutional and Administrative Law, General Theory of Public Law, Regulatory Theory and Practice, and Telecommunications Law.
Former Occupation	Mr. Aranha graduated in Law at the University of Brasilia, where he received later his LL.M. on Constitutional Law and Fundamental Rights. He has a Ph.D. on Comparative Analysis tackling the institutional and legal framework of the telecommunications reforms in Brazil and in the United States. He was appointed to the 3 rd Chamber of the Tax Council (Brazil's administrative tax appeal board of the Ministry of Finance) representing Brazil's National Confederation of Commerce from 1998 to 2002. He is former vice-dean and undergraduate coordinator of the University of Brasilia School of Law, and member of the Superior Council of the Technological and Scientific Ventures Foundation.
Books published	He is author and coauthor of many articles and a number of books mainly on the subjects of public law, institutional theory of law, health law, telecommunications law, constitutional law, fundamental rights, and comparative law, including the following books written in Portuguese: "Constitutional Interpretation and the Institutional Guarantees of Fundamental Rights" (1999), "Public Policy on Patents in Human Health" (2001), "Health Law and Public Policy" (2003), "The New Administrative Law in Brazil" (2003), "Telecommunications Law: Regulation and Infrastructure in Brazil" (2005), "Compendium on Telecommunications Law" (2006), "Telecommunications Law Glossary" (2007), "The New Administrative Law in Brasil, volume 2" (2010), "ICT, communications and digital literacy" (2010), "Supreme Court Constitutional Review and Fundamental Rights" (2010), "Guidelines on Law and Regulation, ed. 3" (2015), and "Telecommunications Law, ed. 3" (2015).
